

KAZ HAWKINS TO LEAVE NORTHERN IRELAND

PRESS RELEASE - 4TH JANUARY 2019

Kaz Hawkins is to leave Northern Ireland and will set up a temporary base in England from February 2019 as she prepares to investigate a full move to France by spending the summer there between shows. As her career continues to grow through her European touring she feels this is the best decision going forward. Touring will end in Northern Ireland at The Luminaire Club in The MAC theatre, Belfast on 9th June 2019.

Kaz will continue to tour her successful duo show My Life And I but will be announcing more special projects and collaborations throughout 2019. There will also be a return to BBC Radio Ulster for a third series of "Kaz Hawkins Got The Blues" airing in February. Kaz would like to thank the BBC for their continued support over the years, especially her producer Ralph McLean.

Kaz says;

"To explore the world through music is something I am very grateful for and I hope everyone understands that leaving Northern Ireland means I have more freedom to do this. I thank those who have understood me and supported me since 2010 when I first went public with my songs. I will miss them the most. I hope fans will come to my last shows at home to say goodbye properly".
